

I'm not robot!

When I see birches bend to left and right
Across the lines of straighter darker trees,
I like to think some boy's been swinging them.
But swinging doesn't bend them down to stay
As ice-storms do.
Often you must have seen them
Loaded with ice a sunny winter morning
After a rain. They click upon themselves
As the breeze rises, and turn many-colored
As the stir cracks and crazes their enamel.
Soon the sun's warmth makes them shed crystal shells
Shattering and avalanching on the snow-crust--
Such heaps of broken glass to sweep away
You'd think the inner dome of heaven had fallen.
They are dragged to the withered bracken by the load,
And they seem not to break; though once they are bowed
So low for long, they never right themselves:
You may see their trunks arching in the woods
Years afterwards, trailing their leaves on the ground
Like girls on hands and knees that throw their hair
Before them over their heads to dry in the sun.
But I was going to say when Truth broke in
With all her matter-of-fact about the ice-storm!
I should prefer to have some boy bend them
As he went out and in to fetch the cows--
Some boy too far from town to learn baseball,
Whose only play was what he found himself,
Summer or winter, and could play alone.
One by one he subdued his father's trees
By riding them down over and over again
Until he took the stiffness out of them,
And not one but hung limp, not one was left
For him to conquer. He learned all there was
To learn about not launching out too soon
And so not carrying the tree away
Clear to the ground. He always kept his poise
To the top of the tree, and with a swing
And splash, like thick cream, his right to it
Closed. He unsaddled and lowered the rigging
Down, and then he flung outward, feet first,
With a swish, Kicking his way down through the air
To the ground. So was I once myself a swinger of birches.
And so I dream of going back to be.
It's when I'm weary of considerations,
And life is too much like a pathless wood
Where your face burns and tickles with the cobwebs
Broken across it, and one eye is weeping
From a twig's having lashed across it open.
I'd like to get away from earth awhile
And then come back to it and begin over.
May no fate willfully misunderstand me
And half grant what I wish and snatch me away
Not to return. Earth's the right place
For love: I don't know where it's likely to go better.
I'd like to go by climbing a birch tree,
And climb black branches up a snow-white trunk
Toward heaven, till the tree could bear no more,
But dipped its top and set me down again.
That would be good both going and coming back.
One could do worse than be a swinger of birches.

Buzzfeed: If the Grinch Had Social Media
Buzzfeed: If Jordan Belfort Had an Instagram
Buzzfeed: If Aladdin Had Taken Place Today
Buzzfeed: If Ghandi Had an Instagram
Assignment: The class will be divided into six groups.
Each group will select one form of social media. The options for selecting are:
1. Facebook
2. Twitter
3. Instagram
4. Pinterest
5. Spotify
6. eHarmony
Once you have selected your form of social media, you will begin to make (or photoshop!) a social media account for Robert Frost. You must include details such as references to Frost's personal life or poetry, direct quotations, and photographs. You must convince me that you understand his perspective!
Do make us laugh though :)
One person in each group will be in charge of looking into ways that our class project can be published online. Personally, I would love to make our class Buzzfeed-famous!
